

Context indicators of OPE

Indicator title	Evaluation of attainability of target value	Evaluation of relevance of target value human resources expenditure (total public expenditure for education) as a share of GDP	The target value is achievable	The target value is relevant share of employment in total	The target value of the indicator is not likely to be achieved	The target value is relevant % of population participating in life-long learning, aged 25 – 64	The target value of the indicator is not likely to be achieved	The target value is relevant university graduates	The target value of the indicator is not likely to be achieved	The target value is not relevant high-school graduates	The target value was achieved as of June 30, 2011.	The target value is relevant share of population (aged 18-24) with lower high-school diplomas not participating in further education	The target value is achievable	The target value is relevant